Textured embossed panels covered with real oak veneer surface

Hand-finished wood, treated to look aged — the primary material used to create Antik panels. The wood is then transformed into veneer and pressed into molds that mimic the wood surface of yesteryear. The process preserves traces left by the passage of time to create panels that are authentic, unique and expressive.

Features

- Non-repeating pattern
- Real oak veneer surface
- Special matte lacquering technique enhances the visual effect of old wood
- Panel length indicates direction of embossed wood-grain pattern

Finishing technique for Shaker doors

Cut a rabbet approximately 2 mm deep around the edge of the base panel for attaching the frame pieces in the next step.

Glue application – use PVA wood glue for long-lasting adhesion. Apply dabs of hot-melt glue and immediately mount the frame pieces in place.

Place the frame pieces into their final position and press down.
